NARRATORS Welcome to our harvest festival,
We're not very big, we're only small,
But we have something to show you today,
Seven big letters with lots to say.
So, here's the first one, perhaps you've guessed,
That it's letter 'H' for the word 'HARVEST'!

SONG 1 Sing, A Song Of Harvest

NARRATORS So 'H' is for 'HARVEST', the time of year,
When farmers everywhere get a big cheer,
For growing us food like new potatoes,
Carrots and parsnips and red tomatoes.

All year long, they've looked after the seeds,
Watered the plants and removed the weeds,
Then at the right time, when crops have grown tall,
The farmer carefully harvests them all.

Because of this work we have food for lunch,
So, we'll say thank you as we munch and crunch.
Now it is time for letter two to come,
It's letter 'A' for the season 'AUTUMN'.

SONG 2 Summer Is Over Autumn Has Come

NARRATORS The season of autumn has come again,
Bringing the cold, the wind and the rain.
The leaves on the trees are falling down,
But there's no need to worry or frown.

Autumn has so many sights to see,
See the colourful leaves on the tree,
See the blackberries growing around,
See the mushrooms grow on the ground.

See the horse chestnuts with conkers inside,
See the holly wear red berries with pride,
See all the birds, migrating today,
See animals hibernating away.

Autumn is such a great time of the year,
Autumn deserves an enormous loud cheer.
Now, let's think about veggies and fruits,
With our next letter, it's 'R' for 'ROOTS'.

SONG 3

Roots That Are Strong

NARRATORS

Months ago, the farmer dug up the ground,
And buried a little seed, where it found,
Lovely rich soil, then through the springtime,
With refreshing rain and warm sunshine...

It started to grow, at first with some shoots,
Then with a stem, some leaves and long roots,
And as it sprouted, stronger each day,
The tall plant reached into the sky to play...
